

EXT. TERRORIST COMPOUND WEST - MORNING

Mario and Beth approach the compound from the west side looking for an entrance. The area is void of any apparent threats as Mario and Beth walk alongside the building.

MARIO

So, what do you think of the new guy?

BETH

I don't know, he seems nice I guess.

MARIO

Nice you guess? The hell does that mean?

BETH

Well what am I supposed to say?
All I know about him is he might have gotten his unit killed but he says he didn't.

MARIO

And you believe him?

BETH

I don't know. I mean, either way
I'm believing a stranger right?

Mario stops with a confused look on his face.

MARIO

What?

Beth turns to face Mario.

BETH

I mean if you really think about it what's the difference? I've never met any of the people involved in Seattle. Nobody. So my options are, believe a group of strangers or believe a single stranger.

Beth shrugs her shoulders then turns and continues walking. Mario shakes his head and begins following her. Beth suddenly stops and turns with her hand on her face pensively.

MARIO

You know Carlisle was his squad captain at the time.

Mario chuckles as he and Beth continue looking for an opening.

BETH

And Carlisle put him on our team right?

Mario looks at Beth in silence with shame in his eyes.

BETH

Right?

MARIO

Yea.

BETH

And Aren't you the one who's always going on about team trust or whatever.

MARIO

First of all, I stand by that and I'm disgusted that you said or what ever. We gone have a talk about that back at HQ. With the whole team. You think this a game and shit keep playing. And secondly, that's my whole point.

CONTINUED:

MARIO (CONT'D)

How I'm supposed to trust somebody when there's such a big question on the table and I don't know the Truth?

BETH

I don't know but you'll have to think about that later cause I just found a window.

Beth points at a window at the ground level that appears to lead into the basement.

BETH

Look!

Mario and Beth rush over to the window.

MARIO

Are we clear?

BETH

Clear.

MARIO

Stand back.

Mario attaches a device to the window that begins pulling it off without breaking the glass.